THE ROYAL ORDER OF THE RACCOONS

Messages from The Grand Poo-Pah & MaMa Raccoon

Super Bowl Sunday is nigh. Yeah!
We are both so excited that we can't think of a thing to say in this newsletter.
We have a Super Bowl Poker Tournament. We have many Super Bowl
Boards across several price ranges.
We have Raccoon Members-Only
Boards. We may have super Super Bowl snacks if we can take time to think about getting them, we....

All we can do is think Super Bowl,
Super Bowl, Super Bowl. Plus the STUFF below.
Go raccoons!
Go Super Bowl

STUFF

SUPER BOWL FREEZEOUT

NEWS & VIEWS

The following facts (sic) are from the PBS program, NATURE. Editorial corrections (in italics) have been forwarded to the producers.

Size and Weight: The adult raccoon is a medium-sized mammal.

In our Graze, XL is the new Medium.

Life span: In captivity a raccoon can live up to 20 years.

Much, much longer if they drink beer.

Diet: The raccoon is an omnivorous and opportunistic eater.

On this we agree based on observations of the stampede whenever we have snacks. FYI, many can't eat spicy foods – but do since it is free!

Geography: The raccoon is native to North America and can be found throughout the United States, except for parts of the Rocky Mountains.

Say WHAT!!!? Hello from Helena, MT!

Breeding and Social Structure: Though previously thought to be quite solitary, there is now evidence that the species congregates in groups. Mating season for raccoons falls generally anytime between January and June.

That's January through December.

Risks: A raccoon has few predators though the animal has been known to be attacked by cougars, bobcats, and coyotes.

THANKS TO OUR
BARTENDERS RON & TERI

You forgot Deer.

Additional Facts:

- Christopher Columbus is the first individual we know of to have written about the species.
- The English word "raccoon" is an adaptation of a native Powhatan word meaning "animal that scratches with its hands."
- In the winter, the raccoon does not hibernate, but can sleep in its den for weeks.

Finally a complete fact!

- A raccoon can run at speeds of up to 15 miles per hour.

More like 1 mile TOPS – as long as it is downhill.

- The raccoon is a good swimmer and can stay in water for several hours.

Most of us use the bathrooms.

- The species makes a variety of vocalizations including hisses, whistles, screams, growls and snarls.

And can also say, "Oooga Oooga, Oooga Chug, Chug, Chug. Go Raccoons."
